

Tricky Test

You are taking an important maths test which will decide which class you are in next year. If you do well you'll get your favourite teacher, if you don't you'll have a strict teacher. You get stuck on a question worth 20 marks and start to panic, but you can clearly see your neighbours answer.

Turn your back or tell?

Everyday you see the same boy tease and bully the same girl during breaktimes. The boy always makes sure there's no teachers around and the girl is always left upset. If you tell a teacher the boy might start picking on you. What do you do? Why?

Cash Point Quandary

You are walking down the main street. Up ahead of you, you can see your friend with their Mum at the cash machine. Before you reach them they walk off, you are the next person to walk past the cash machine and when you do, you notice £20 sticking out that they have forgotten to take. What do you do? Why?

New Boy Muddle

A new boy starts in your class. He doesn't know your class rules and some boys tell him he can sit on the bench but you know that's a lie because there is a rota. The boys are trying to get the new boy into trouble on his first day. What do you do? Why?
